Raid Kuhlmann Brewery Friday

Alford Beer of High Voltage Found in Kuhlmann Plant—Plenty of Dist Found in Kuhlmann Brewery. Assistant Administrator Lowell E. Smith in charge of enforcement of the Albany district prohibition of the city, together with a number of agents of the "brewery squad" paid a visit to Kuhlmann Friday and made a raid on the Kuhlmann brewery in that village. It is claimed by the agents that they found beer of high voltage and an arrest was made on the premises. Jacob Kuhlmann, who said he was the caretaker, was the only person found in the place and he was brought to Kingston and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Connelly and held in temporary jail in the sum of $500 for a hearing March 1 at 2 o'clock.

A visit was also made by the agents of the Kingston office at the Kuhlmann brewery on South Clinton street and on South Main street. The agents investigated a complaint which had been filed with the department. All the agents found to substantiate the complaint was an empty brewery and plenty of dist. A license for the brewery has existed for some time but there have been no operations at the plant since the license.

HOOPER INSPECTING EVERGLADES SECTION

Clewiston, Fla., Feb. 16 (P).—President-elect Hoover expected today to conclude his inspection of what Floridians call "the last outpost of America"—the Everglades section which, with the aid of the federal government, they hope to convert into a great sugar bowl with an annual hundred million dollar crop.

Refreshed from a night's rest after his strenuous day yesterday in motoring 210 miles from his Belle Isle home to this city, the next chief executive planned to spend the morning driving through the section from here to Canal Point, which was hardest hit by the hurricane and flood last September.

Before going into the last phase of his journey, the president-elect listened to an outline by Major General Jadwin of the plan of flood relief, which army engineers have recommended to congress.

This plan contemplates three phases—the building of a levee on the south side of the lake 31 feet high; drainage canals from the lake into the Caloosahatchee river, and the improvement of the Saint Lucie canal into the Atlantic near Palm Beach.

Representative Frank B. Reid of Illinois, chairman of the house flood control committee, who made an airplane flight over the Everglades with General Jadwin yesterday, said part of the cost of completing the work Florida has begun would have to be borne by the state or the local communities which would benefit. He estimated the cost of the south shore levee alone at $7,500,000 and the cost of the whole project at more than $10,000,000.

Representative Reid suggested that the name Everglades be changed, proposing that it be made the Hoover-Skipper drainage district in honor of the president-elect and the Republican national committee man for Florida.

London, Feb. 12 (P).—A picture of Leon Trotsky as a very sick man is drawn in a dispatch from Constantinople to the Daily Mail today. Both he and his family are kept in strict seclusion in their rooms.

Jacob Merrihew Injured in Fall

Jacob Y. Merrihew, night jailer at the court house, is somewhat handicapped in his usual activities by reason of a broken collarbone which he sustained Thursday in a fall while accompanying Sheriff Rice on a trip to the town of Rochester to serve papers in connection with his duties at the office. While Sheriff Rice was serving the papers Mr. Merrihew left the car and while walking near the farm house slipped on a small piece of ice and fell heavily on his right shoulder. Believing the injury was simply a bruise he paid little attention to it until Thursday when the pain became severe. Dr. William S. Bush examined the injury and found the shoulderblade cracked. An x-ray was taken by Dr. H. P. Van Wageningen to determine the extent of the injury and for some time Mr. Merrihew will have to carry his arm in a sling and his shoulder in a splint. A small piece of bone which was chipped from the shoulder socket is also giving severe pain.

Exchange Hotel Again Raided

Saugerties received a return visit Friday from the local prohibition agents. The Exchange Hotel was visited under a search warrant and a quantity of alleged high power beer and liquor was found and seized by the agents who after taking what samples were necessary proceeded with the matter of destroying the other stuff on the premises. Glen Robinson was placed under arrest and released on his own recognizance to appear before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly February 19. This is the second visit which Saugerties has received from the Kingston agents within the past week.

Lindy Had Mail For Mrs. Hickey

This morning Mrs. Thomas J. Hickey of 416 Broadway received a letter from her son, Commander Hickey of the U. S. Navy, mailed from Balboa in the Canal Zone, and it was one of the letters included in the first Pan American mail, which was carried in the plane of Colonel Lindbergh.

Commander Hickey in the letter to his mother writes "Most interesting of all is that this letter is going in the Pan American mail, the first one to the United States. And in order to properly introduce and sponsor the first mail, Colonel Charles Lindbergh is flying the plane."

Hearst, who financed alone, the expenses of the first P. T. A. Convention. The purposes of the organization are "Trained parenthood, raising the standard of child life, encouraging a closer interest between the home, the school, the church and the state." There are 52,000 associations in the state and over a million in the nation.

BRITISH COMBAT RITUAL MURDER IN EAST AFRICA

Nairobi, East Africa, Feb. 16 (P).—A series of murders has thrown one part of Kenya Colony into disorder. They are believed to have arisen out of the old native superstition that the young warrior cannot enter manhood until he has "blooded his spear." The killings followed a celebration of religious rites of young men of the Maasi tribe. Disturbances usually arise after these observances, and the recent one was the largest in the history of this tribe. The situation is serious enough to induce the governor to proclaim a certain area of Maasi province "a disturbed area," and to send in additional police forces.

SHOOTER SET SHOP ALFIRE

New York, Feb. 15 (P).—After beating and binding Nathan Pelmas, proprietor of a Bronx clothing store, two bandits, apparently enraged because the cash register yielded only $17 and a check for $12, set the shop alight today. Pelmas, whose feet were not bound, managed to reach the street. The fire destroyed stock valued at $3,000.

SHOOTER WIFE THEN KILLED HER

East Aurora, N. Y., Feb. 16 (P).—At a request to a domestic quarrel, Vernon Roth, 33, of this village, shot and killed himself after firing two shots from a small-bore rifle in his wife's left hand and left shoulder last night. The wife, Mrs. Elsie Weber Roth, 30, is in a hospital and is expected to recover.

Picks Up S O S From Freighter

New York, Feb. 16 (P).—The steamer President Harding wirelessly today that she had picked up an S O S call from the American freighter Padusay and was going to her assistance in latitude 41:30 north and longitude 45:50 west.

The President Harding left New York February 13 for Bremen. The Padusay left New York for West African ports on February 10.

The wireless message from the President Harding, which was received by the Radio Marine Corporation, said that the freighter's rudder was gone.

The President Harding was about 300 miles from the freighter when the liner picked up the S O S, and it was believed that 18 hours would be required before the liner could reach the stricken vessel. The President Harding had been making but 12 knots. Presumably because of heavy seas.

The position of the Padusay was estimated at 1,100 miles east of Ambrose Light, at the entrance of New York harbor, or almost mid-ocean. The President Harding was about 825 miles east of New York.

COOPERATION BY ALL BANKS SUGGESTED

Washington, Feb. 16 (P).—Cooperation by all banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System in an effort to prevent the use of Federal Reserve credit for speculative purposes has been suggested by the Federal Advisory Council.

This proposal was made by the council at the end of a two-day session here at which the action of the Federal Reserve Board in issuing a sharp warning against speculation was warmly endorsed.

The Federal Advisory Council is composed of one member from each Federal Reserve district. It acts in an advisory capacity to the board, having the power to recommend changes in the discount rate. Its action was taken to mean that sentiment for a curbing of speculation had crystallized in the Federal Reserve System and that further steps toward that end might be expected.

The council already has warned that it would take whatever measures it thought necessary.

The council said: "The Federal Reserve Board approves the action of the Federal Reserve Board in instructing the Federal Reserve banks to prevent as far as possible the diversion of Federal Reserve funds for the purpose of carrying loans based on securities."

The Federal Advisory Council suggests that all member banks in each district be asked directly by the Federal Reserve Bank of the district to cooperate in order to attain the end desired. The council believes beneficial results can be attained in this manner."

KILLS TWO OF HIS SISTERS AND SELF; FEARED INSANITY

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 16 (P).—Frank Johnson, who feared insanity would strike his entire family, went to a hospital late last night, shot and killed two of his sisters and then turned the pistol on himself.

One sister, Alma, was a patient under treatment for mental trouble. Another, Eda, was a hospital attaché. A third sister, Hulda, has been a patient at the hospital for the insane at Hastings, Neb., for a year. Hospital authorities expected a friendly family gathering when Johnson, a Kearney, Neb., farmer, called and asked to see his sisters. The three had been left in a room only a few minutes, however, when three shots were fired. Nurses found the three bodies. A pistol was in Johnson's hand.

CHECKER TOURNEY RESULTS EVEN

The checker tourney played at the Borlino billiard parlors at 602 Broadway Friday night between Thomas Manning of this city and Charles Mackey of Marlborough netted two draws and one tie, resulting in both players retaining their standings.

On Friday evening, February 22, Leroy Guinan will meet Charlie Mackey to try for a settlement of the disputed championship of the Hudson valley. In another checker match Tom Manning will try his moves against a player from Long Island.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF RAILROAD PASSENGERS

Chicago, Feb. 16 (P).—The year 1928 was a bad one for the railroads, as concerned passenger travel. It is revealed by statistics compiled by Railway Age made public today.

The number of passengers (788,000,000) was the smallest of any year since 1905. The number of passenger miles (21,625,000,000) was smaller than any year since 1909. The number of miles traveled by the average train passenger (264) was the lowest in the period from 1920 to 1929.

Melville E. Stone, Journalist, Dies

For 24 Years Was General Manager of The Associated Press and For 30 Years an Outstanding Figure in Journalism.

New York, Feb. 16 (P).—Melville E. Stone, for 28 years general manager of The Associated Press and for half a century an outstanding figure in journalism, died last night at his home, 120 East 75th street.

In his 81st year, he had been in failing health for four months. Death came quietly at 2:50 p. m. With him were his wife and daughter. The cause of death was arterio-sclerosis.

In 1921 Mr. Stone retired as general manager of The Associated Press because of age and became counselor and secretary. He served as counselor till his death.

His journalistic career, which began when he was 20 years old, spanned one of the most vital epochs in newsgathering and distribution and was closely identified with it. The son of a Methodist circuit rider, he was successively manufacturer, newspaper publisher and banker till at the age of 45 he began his life work in the direction of unbiased and accurate cooperative news gathering and distribution.

Tribute to Mr. Stone was paid after his death by persons prominent in various fields of activity. There were references to him as "a true patriot."

His contribution to journalism was described as "one of the greatest monuments an international figure has ever had." Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, and one of the directors of The Associated Press, said that Mr. Stone, possessing the business qualifications of a Gary, a Field or an Armour, accepted an opportunity for service to his fellow man and in old age had reason to feel that he had been fully compensated for the fortunes he sacrificed.

"I have lived from the lightning rod to the radio," Mr. Stone said last year, "and I have seen electricity change the whole business of news gathering."

In retirement, he kept in close touch with the activities of The Associated Press and he was frequently consulted for his advice.

"I am an old man," he said at the annual meeting of the members in 1925. "Yet it is not at all unlikely that this is the last that I shall have an opportunity to talk to you."

"I regard The Associated Press as a public duty and every public duty is a privilege. If it were not so, I should never have been with you."

"Incidentally, The Associated Press is an opportunity for you to make money. But if money getting and public service may be joined hand in hand, as I think they have been in this institution, then you have been doubly blessed."

"This is a cooperative organization, the greatest in the world, and esprit de corps is essential to success, against great odds and by the exercise of infinite patience, we have built a great and most useful institution—one of incalculable value, in my belief, to the American theory of government, and I hope no one will challenge my firm conviction that our American theory of government is far and away the best ever devised by the sons of men, not perfect, I grant you, but the best existent."

In his library were autographed photographs of the great figures of the war news from the Civil War, across more than half a century to the reconstruction period after the World War—Joffre, Tait, Wilson, Roosevelt, Diaz, Curran, the King of Siam.

"Within my lifetime," he was wont to say, "these men have made and changed history."

Mrs. Martha McFarland Stone, to whom he was married in Chicago in 1869, survives him as does his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Creighton Stone, and his brother, Professor Ormond Stone, formerly of the faculty of the University of Virginia. His two sons, Herbert S. Stone and Melville E. Stone, Jr., died before he did. Herbert Stone was lost when the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine.

TRIBUTES BY PROMINENT PERSONS

Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times:

"In Mr. Stone's death journalism loses a courageous leader and wise counselor and the country a true patriot."

"When more than thirty years ago he dedicated his life to the task of developing a news service owned and controlled by the newspapers, I served he was known to possess in a marked degree the business qualifications of a Gary, a Field or an Armour."

"To undertake the organization and direction of the Associated Press gave no promise of a fortune or of financial gain. It did give promise of something greater."

Mr. Stone offered an opportunity for service to his fellow man the pursuit of a noble ideal, the crushing of a menace to the freedom and independence of the press.

Photographs of Memorial Tablet

The estate of Joseph Drake, with the advice and suggestion of County Clerk Walter G. Geroldsek, has presented to Kingston Post 400 copies of a beautiful photograph of the memorial tablet which is placed in front of the city hall. The name of each World War veteran is easily read in the photograph, which is suitable for framing.

Joseph Drake was one of this country's best known and best loved citizens. These photographs were found not long ago among the valuables which he left in the county clerk's office. A conference between County Clerk Geroldsek, Deputy County Clerk Charles R. O'Connor and Attorney Chris K. Loughran was called and it was decided that it would have been Mr. Drake's wish to present these to the American Legion.

They have been presented, with many thanks from the Legionnaires of Kingston Post, and are now ready for distribution to those who apply and as long as they last.

Relatives of deceased veterans may have one of these photographs by applying any afternoon or evening at the American Legion Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street.

JUDGE CLEARWATER WRITES TO HERALD TRIBUNE

The following letter appeared in today's issue of the Herald Tribune:

To the New York Herald Tribune: Probably because of the fact that, although if enacted it inevitably would radically change the substantive and long established law in this state relative to divorce, it has been designated as an amendment to the civil practice act, an amendment now pending in the Senate has escaped notice and comment. It provides that actions for absolute divorce may be maintained by a husband or a wife dissolving the marriage by reason of: A. Defendant's adultery; B. extreme and repeated cruelty to endanger life and health; C. conviction of a felony or infamous crime; D. insanity; E. physical incapacity; F. habitual intemperance; G. fraud; H. refusal to cohabit and desertion for a period of three years; I. want of age of consent; J. incestuous marriages.

Notwithstanding the present disposition to enlarge (euphemistically designated "liberalize") the law relative to divorce, it should be apparent even to the most enthusiastic polygamist that this is going too rapidly and too far.

The marshaling of this variegated assortment of reasons for divorce extends in "liberalization" not only the provisions of the common law, but those of the Pandects and Justinian, the code of Napoleon and the tenets of Islam.

The bill summarily should be defeated. A. T. CLEARWATER, Chairman of the New York State Bar Association's committee to examine the civil practice act.

Kingston, N. Y., February 14, 1929

challenged leader of his great organization

"He was a great diplomat with a sense of humor."

"Those who fought him hardest in the early days of press association development perhaps admired him most and in later years, to my certain knowledge, some of them learned to love him for his rich personality."

M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company:

"Melville E. Stone is dead. Yet there stands erected to his memory one of the greatest monuments an international figure has ever had. I refer not only to the great press association which he built but to the ideal of journalistic public service of which his life was a living example."

Karl A. Biekel, president of the United Press:

"Older and closer personal friends of Mr. Stone than I can speak of his manifold qualities of mind and heart in detail and intimacy I cannot approach, but the United Press has the keenest and solidest appreciation of the great and enduring work he did in his lifetime in the development of the ideals and ethical standards of American press associations which have made them the ablest, strongest and most comprehensive in the world. He was a great newspaperman, a great press association executive and a great patriot."

John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for president in 1924:

"Melville E. Stone was a great figure in American life, a man possessed of a broad knowledge of men and affairs and a sound judgment. In building up the Associated Press he did a work that few men would have been capable of. I deeply regret his death."

James J. Walker, mayor of New York:

"Mr. Stone was one of the outstanding journalists of his generation. He was responsible to a great extent for building up the tremendous worldwide network of the Associated Press. Aside from his distinguished career as a journalist he was one of America's most widely-known and public spirited citizens."

Measles Cases In Ponckhockie

Fourteen Cases Reported in That Section of City to Board of Health—All Cases Should Be Reported Promptly to Health Officer.

Fourteen cases of measles have been reported among the children in the Ponckhockie section of the city, and Health Officer E. H. Loughran advises that where no physician is called that the head of the house promptly report any case to the board of health.

Twelve of the cases reported broke out among the pupils in School No. 4. The health officer advises that children be kept in school where they will be under the observation of the school nurse, and that as soon as they show signs of illness, proper care will be given.

According to health authorities it has been found by experience that the disease is better controlled by keeping the schools open rather than closing them.

Fuel Famine In Austria

Vienna, Feb. 13 (P).—Austria is in the throes of a real fuel famine and the government has appealed to the German Reich to send coal.

The Germans, replying promptly to the appeal, have started hundreds of freight cars of Ruhr coal toward Austria, but the terrific snows of the past week have blocked the railroad and may prevent the shipments from reaching Austria for a fortnight.

Within a few days the present coal supply being used for electric light will be gone and the city will be in darkness. The government is urging the population to go to bed early each evening in order to conserve its small supplies of coal for hospitals and public service institutions.

The extent of the food shortage in Vienna is indicated by the fact that 1,000,000 persons already have been fed at army soup kitchens.

Resume Inquest Into Bell Death

Monday the inquest on the body of Ira Bell, former Mombaccus resident, will be resumed at Firemen's Hall, Ellenville. Bell was injured while attempting to assist in getting a motor truck back on the road after it had backed into the ditch, when a manure spreader, which was being towed broke loose. Bell apparently was not badly injured, but died shortly after under peculiar circumstances and the inquest was called. After a hearing on December 18, an adjournment was taken to secure additional witnesses. The hearing will be called at 10:30 o'clock before Coroner W. H. Conner.

THOUGHT BROTHER WAS BURGLAR AND SHOT HIM

Seranton, Pa., Feb. 16 (P).—William Smith, 18, a boy scout, was in a serious condition in the State Hospital today with bullet wounds in his chest and neck. The youth was shot last midnight by his brother, who thought William was a burglar trying to force an entrance to the Smith home.

William had attended a boy scout social and when he got home found the door locked. Not desiring to awaken his family he attempted to open a window. His brother, thinking there was a burglar at work, fired four times, two bullets striking the boy.

Family Troubles In Police Court

Willard Joy, Released From Jail Friday Evening, Makes Complaint at His Home and Is Arrested—Harry Shoemaker Arrested on Assault Charge.

Willard Joy of No. 2 Derrenbacher street, was released from the county jail at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening where he had been serving a term, and at 11 o'clock that evening police headquarters received a telephone call from his home to which Officers Simon Wood, Schick and Urban Healey responded at which time Mrs. Joy placed her husband under arrest and turned him over to the officers charging him with disorderly conduct.

This morning in police court Joy entered a plea of guilty to the charge preferred by his wife and asked for another chance stating that he would behave himself in the future. Mrs. Joy informed Judge Shufeldt that she had forgiven her husband four times previously but she was now positive they could not get along together and should each go their way.

After hearing both sides Judge Shufeldt sentenced Joy to thirty days in the county jail but suspended serving of the sentence pending his behavior himself in the future. Joy was also directed to seek another boarding place and to contribute $8 a week toward the support of their three children, which he said he was willing to do.

Harry Shoemaker of 14 East Union street, was arrested Friday by Officer Robert Healey on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Adelaide Cragan of 39 Chambers street who charged Harry with assault in the third degree in striking her with his fists. Harry has a badly injured hand which he caught in a coal conveyor on Ferry street while unloading coal for the Central Hudson Line. He was sentenced to twenty days in the county jail and the serving of the sentence was suspended pending his future good behavior. He was warned to leave Mrs. Cragan alone in the future, and agreed to do so.

MINERS CUT OFF FROM WORLD BY SNOWSLIDES

Durango, Col., Feb. 16 (P).—Cut off from the world by snowslides for two weeks, 385 miners at the Sunny-alde mine and mill, north of the isolated town of Silverton, near here, today had only enough food to last three or four days.

By telephone, their only means of communication with the outside, the miners sent word last night that their provisions were low.

Efforts to move mill and another provisions to Silverton and Eureka, another isolated town, by a pack train have failed. Great snow slides between Silverton and Durango have buried the railroad tracks under snow that in some places reaches a depth of 200 feet. An army of shovelers has been at work for days cutting through the blockade and it was estimated that it would take that much longer to get through.

FACTS AND FIGURES BEFORE REPARATION EXPERTS

Paris, Feb. 16 (P).—The reparation experts had before them today two days in which to digest a mass of facts and figures given them during the past five days by the German delegates, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht and Dr. Carl Meißner.

Monday they will reassemble and probably hear a statement of the extreme allied viewpoint, represented by France.

Germany's case has been heard, and the German delegates are now expected to state in definite figures just what they believe their country able to pay annually.

It is believed they will set a figure approximating 1,500,000,000 marks (about $357,000,000) while the allies claim about 3,500,000,000 marks (about $831,000,000).

FIGHTING AGAINST NARCOTIC ADDICTION

Los Angeles, Feb. 16 (P).—The Examiner today said that members of the family of Alma Rubens, screen star, had made it known that she is fighting to reclaim herself from narcotic addiction.

The newspaper quoted Miss Rubens' husband, Ricardo Cortez, also a motion picture star, as having said: "I don't know how long Alma has been using narcotics. It has been only in the last few months that she could no longer be any more." Miss Rubens entered a sanatorium recently after having figured in two cases involving complaints to the police.

Captain Fox

A few days ago Chaucer Schoonmaker of Lancaster, while standing in a field near a fence, saw a fox coming towards him at a fast clip. The fox rushed to get through the fence and Schoonmaker made a quick dash and grabbed him by the neck and captured him. The fox is now in captivity in a coop and his capturer is the envy of the hunters of that section bordering on the town of Shandaken because of his out of the ordinary feat.

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, Feb. 16.—Shades of Patrick, snakes in the winter. One morning recently Mr. and Mrs. Eckert of Watson Hollow saw in their yard a good size black snake which was frozen and its appearance dead. Out of curiosity Mr. Eckert brought it in by the arm store expecting that when the little became thawed out it would show signs of life. However, nothing of the kind happened. Thinking perhaps the natural heat of the sun might have the desired effect, he placed it on the porch in the direct rays of the morning sun. Nevertheless, the snake failed to recover. The only possible solution of this unusual occurrence is that evidently the reptile had crawled forth from its winter seclusion during one of the mild rainy days, but in coming in contact with the cold ground and snow the yard had become benumbed by the cold and during the night had been dead. Perhaps it had shared a burrow with a friendly woodchuck and the two had come out together.

Martin J. Every and son, local farmers, are working on the frozen water pipe line at the Burgher bungalow, but up until this time have failed to get the water running, which has caused much inconvenience as they are obliged to haul water from the creek some distance away. Quite a number of local folks saw "Abie's Irish Rose" during its run at a Broadway Theatre, Kingston. All who saw the picture pronounced it a marvelous production, and are delighted with the great human element therein depicted.

Dwyer and Winklers have kept continuously engaged with their ice harvesting from the reservoir, having completed the filling of their storage bins on Wednesday.

Grover C. Winchell of Olive Bridge was a business caller here on Wednesday.

Mrs. Hannah Davis, who has sustained an attack of the flu, is able to be about the house again and attending to her household work. Mrs. Davis is a remarkable woman for her eighty odd years.

Marvin Vandemark is cutting and hauling his firewood from the timberlands of Delos Eckert at Watson Hollow.

All are glad to see that Morton of West Shokan Heights is able to get out again and walk after the fall, following the heavy fall he sustained a week ago. He fell from the hay mow to the barn floor, a distance of twelve feet, striking the floor with his back and shoulders. It will still be some time before he can perform much manual labor, although he feels indeed lucky that his injuries were not of a far more serious nature.

Raymond Miller of Broadhead Thursday afternoon called on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder at the Traver Hollow.

The county snow scraper on Wednesday was busy removing the heavy drifts from the Boulevard on the curve by the Oakes estate at Colville, also near the Traver Hollow.

It was indeed a fitting tribute which appeared in both the Kingston dailies, written by J. S. Hill, a lifelong friend of the late Mathias Burgher.

Miss Freda Krom has a very interesting manuscript book of the Bushkill district which dates back to the building of the first log school house in 1821, that was located at the bend in the Watson Hollow road, above the Sigourney farm. In it are recorded the names of the pioneers of Bushkill and Watson Hollow.

William Jones has been busy working up a maple log into firewood which he procured from Charles Hesley.

Marshall Rosa was a recent visitor on West Shokan Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Golden Van Benschoten of Hemlock Knoll, Shokan, on Saturday evening last in a very fitting manner celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary, being tendered a surprise by a party of about eighteen relatives and neighbors.

Lauren Hesley is being kept busy with his truck at his stone hauling contract at the Tongore bridge job.

The Misses Anna and Viola Van Kleeck of Olive Bridge, accompanied by their friend, Elizabeth Whalen, of Brown Station, spent Tuesday night in Kingston and attended the evening performance of Abie's Irish Rose.

F. L. Weidner and his trusted assistant, Arsey Bell, were delivering firewood to customers on Wednesday.

While Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder were returning home from Kingston on Wednesday night the headlights of the car suddenly went out while near the Broadhead post office.

Luckily Mrs. Snyder was driving slowly at the time due to a snow squall and was able to bring the car to a stop in the road. The remainder

Teachers Can Wear 'Em Shortened In Cleveland

The Cleveland superintendent of schools wants his teachers to be modish, so Cecilla Sholle (right) and Jean Burroughs (left) show that they are.

Cleveland, (AP).—R. G. Jones, superintendent of Cleveland schools, wants his teachers to be modish in thought and attire. Health and police he lists as important, second only to training and education. Pupils must be at ease to get the most out of their classroom, the superintendent believes, and the best way to bring that about is to give them an attractive, well-dressed, poised and capable teacher.

"We want our teachers to keep abreast of the times," Jones said. "If a teacher can wear short skirts becomingly, she should wear them. And nobody, least of all myself, will complain if there is rouge and lipstick in her purse."

Without good health a teacher is likely to be ill-natured, unable to control herself and may keep the classroom in a turmoil.

Miss Jean Burroughs, a student in the school of education, is Jones' idea of an ideal teacher. Cecilla Sholle was his choice for good health, and Aileen Mannen as an ideal type because of her good nature and fair mindedness.

SUCCESSFUL TESTS

ABOARD SUBMARINE S-4.

Key West, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP).—Ten men, the largest number ever to escape from a sunken submarine, stepped out of the submarine S-4 yesterday and made their way safely to the surface from a depth of 24 feet.

The party donned the new oxygen inflated "lungs" worn like masks and left the submarine through the newly perfected escape hatch.

The tests are being conducted by the navy tender Mallard with the S-4 in an effort to devise some way of saving crews of stricken submarines.

ELEANOR GUNN On Fashions

Brilliant Array of Talent in Evening Designs

MEANER GOWNS AGAIN AND THEIR GLITTER TO NIGHT DRESSES

New York.—As though evening gowns were not sensational enough with their billowing silhouettes and cut away backs, bustles have come to town, and in their wake shimmering bodices and other details proclaiming the return of beaded dresses.

What a change from the nights when one was forced to choose between chiffons and crepes, and when only an occasional gown was lace. Behold now an array of tulle, an assortment of satins many of them bordering on the stand alone satins dear to tradition, laces in every color under the sun, tulle, plain or flower strewn, chiffons gay with posies or pale as mother o' pearl moires, organdies, velvets and a host of other fabrics too numerous to mention. Peplums and bustles have won us from straight lines, and all manner of innovations have taken place so that there is an excitement in viewing a ballroom, an excitement born of the assurance that one never knows what women will wear or how they will wear it.

Strass embroidery and other uses of rhinestones add their sparkle to brilliant night scenes, the rhinestone shoulder strap being momentarily preferred to the built up bodice. Embroidered bodices molded to the form box to the princess vogue and emphasize the width of the skirt which joins in usually at the hip. Bustles are the result usually of well disposed loops of the material the ends of which are frequently elongated to train-like proportions. For formal frocks have a tendency to sweep the ground at the back while retaining a high level when met with face to face.

SPORTS CLOTHES ARE SUPERSEDED BY MORE ELABORATE EFFECTS

New York.—A representative of one of the couture houses in Paris, is now touring America to study the American women whose needs and influences are "the greatest importance in the world today," she is quoted as saying. She adds that our women are so "vital, and so alive that they are an inspiration untold to the French creators." All of which is very gratifying, and doubtless quite true. This creator expresses her opinion that the supremacy of sportswear is a thing of the past and is superseded by an era of more elaborate dressing and in this opinion the rest of the fashion world is in accord. Everything in the wardrobe today, from the house dress in which the maidless woman goes about her chores to the night dress or pajamas in which she goes to rest, testify to the desire for more elaborate things.

In line with this urge for more elaborate effects is the almost un-jamas, becoming daily more important for lounging purposes borrow their ideas frankly from frocks of the more formal type. Pajamas seen on the sands at Palm Beach have the same ornate qualities and are almost never in monotone, nor can the most critical accuse them of being masculine in line or decoration. This is not true however of the swimming suits over which they are so often worn. The knitted sun-type swimming suit is rivaled by the more masculine "shorts" with contrasting tuck-in skirt and belt.

6266. Moire taffeta was chosen in this instance. The design is also good for crepe, or velvet, and nice for satin. The long waist portions, are bloused above a group of crosswise tuck folds, and are shaped in curves that lengthen at the right side. A flare apron portion is arranged on the front of the circular skirt. Soft shirring below the pointed neck line forms a pleasing finish. The sleeve is a one-piece fitted model. This is a very good style for slender figures.

The pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 4 1/2 yards of 28-inch material. If "apron" is made of contrasting material it will require 1/2 yard 40 inches wide. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is 2 1/2 yards.

GREAT TUNNEL PROJECTS.

Human experience shows that often it is the unexpected that happens, and unquestionably the unexpected will happen if Europe should be connected by rail with Africa before England is connected by rail with the continent of Europe. This new project is reported to be seriously considering the project of a tunnel under the Strait of Gibraltar, investigating engineers having declared the undertaking to be feasible and the cost not prohibitive. Such a tunnel is said to be favored for political and strategic rather than economic reasons, all-rail connection with their African dependencies being desirable for both Spain and France. The economic demand for a tunnel under the English Channel is obviously much greater, and it is said that but for the opposition in British military circles probably it would have been completed and in operation by the present time.

As far back as 1872 the British government was known to favor the project "in principle", but serious opposition developed as relations between England and France became less friendly. The negotiation of the "entente cordiale" revived the project, but then it was urged that Germany or another power might by surprise attack capture the French end of the tunnel. Yet one would think that a handful of English soldiers could defend their end of a hole in the ground much more easily than the 300 Spartans defended the narrow pass of Thermopylae against the Persian hosts.

The project has now been once more revived, after the weakening of old objections by new inventions such as the airplane, but it remains to be seen whether conservative England will wait until still more conservative Spain has ventured.

AIRPLANES ON INSTALLMENTS.

If there be any lingering doubt as to whether the age of aviation has definitely arrived, it will be dispelled by the announcement that the Aviation Credit Corporation has been formed and expects to sell airplanes on the installment plan. This means that the shrewd bankers backing the enterprise have decided that the ownership and use of airplanes is no longer to be confined to wealthy sportsmen and professional birdmen, but will hereafter be undertaken by a very considerable percentage of our citizens generally, with possibly the result of less motoring and racing and certainly of much more flying. To many of us this will seem rather premature, but the business men putting their money into the venture are likely to know what they are about.

Unquestionably the march of aviation in this country in recent years has been remarkable. It is officially announced that our present airways total 19,888 miles; that the daily average is 42,698 miles (of which 32,916 is for mail service); and that reports from 10 of the 27 transport operators for the first half of 1928 show 10,996 passengers carried, and that there are at least 8,800 airplanes in operation in addition to those in use by the Federal agencies. The fulfillment of the prediction of a time when the sky will be "darkened" with roaring aeroplanes is still far away, let us hope, but there is at least some indication that we are headed in that direction—so far as the main centers of population are concerned. Undoubtedly there is prospect that flying will eventually become as popular as motoring now is.

The songs of crickets, entomologists have said, are not mere songs. But now comes J. Arthur Thompson, in his book, "The Mind of Animals," with this entertaining statement: "When a group of singing male crickets are near a telephone, the female crickets will crowd around the telephone receiver in a distant location." Precisely the way girls have been known to act when there was a bunch of fellows singing at the other end of a telephone wire. Really, though, we must deprecate this extension of telephone service to sentimental insects. Why encourage them in their foolishness? It's bad enough to have human specimens clattering up the wires the way they do, when serious-minded persons want to get an important message through.

In Germany, a man who has been experimenting with rocket cars, is reported to have invented and tested a sled which is propelled by firing rockets. It was equipped with five rockets which were fired in five series at intervals of one and one-half seconds. The sled shot along the frozen surface of Starbagger Lake, near Munich, at an average rate of 235 miles an hour. That seems a bit more thrilling than hooking on behind a wagon or an automobile. It may be more thrilling than tobogganing or coasting. Quite aside from thrills, however, Arctic and Antarctic explorers might find rocket-driven sleds useful.

The New York Times undertakes to dispose of the "current notion" that Lytton Strachey's "Queen Victoria" started the flood of biographies by pointing out that there were 723 last year and only 398 in 1922, the year following "Queen Victoria." But probably it takes the average biographer considerably more than a year to assemble his material, write his book, and get it into print.

Mrs. Lottie O'Neill of the Illinois legislature denounces the "czarism" of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Representative-elect from the same State. American men accept the "czarism" of their women philosophically, but sometimes other women stage a loud "kick."

WHY THE COLD IS SO COMMON.

A short time ago I spoke about the oldest ailment known to mankind, rheumatism, and pointed out that it was still a great hindrance to health and happiness in the world. And this despite the fact that we know now so much more about its cause—infection from teeth, tonsils, and so forth—and how to treat it. However, if you were asked what was the commonest or most frequent ailment you would state at once, that it was the "common cold." You now know that there are as many colds in California at certain seasons of the year as there are in Maine, and that investigation shows that in an area of only a width of fifty miles extending from Maine to California the number of individuals affected by colds would be practically the same everywhere in proportion to number of people.

Now you don't have these colds during the warm bright weather, except of course the rose and hay-fever colds, but as soon as the indoor life begins these colds become common. Is it the cold weather itself that is responsible?

No, the cool weather is really bracing and gives you a sense of well-being, but your habits of life change, and it is your own habits of life rather than the cold weather, that cause the trouble. There are two things about your habits that change with the weather. One is that you are indoors more, and the room heated to over 70° F., so interferes with the protective organisms in your nose and throat; that when you breathe in the harmful organisms which are floating about in the air your protective organisms are so weak that they do not destroy them. Thus they get the start and the common cold is established.

Second, as you begin to live indoors you find that the cooler weather has made you eat a little more than usual, and you do not get outdoors as much to work off this extra food. Thus you have more "wastes" in the body.

These extra wastes certainly interfere with the ability of the protective organisms of the body (including those in the nose) to fight off invading organisms.

I believe you can easily see the way to protect yourself against the common cold. Keep the temperature of your home at 65° or 70° F., and take enough exercise to work off the food you eat. All wastes must be removed if your fighting organisms are to do their work properly.

MORAN STUDENTS HEAR HELPFUL HEALTH TALK

The necessity of superb, vigorous health for the attainment of success in the business world was the theme around which was woven the most practical kind of health talk delivered by Miss Margaret O'Connor, public health nurse with the New York State Department of Health, at the Thursday afternoon assembly of the Moran Business School in the Burgevin Building.

Special attention was given to the forming of correct habits with particular reference to diet, exercise and rest. Directing her remarks to the young ladies in her audience, Miss O'Connor said that today it is not considered stylish to be stout. She discussed the extremes to which young women are resorting in their efforts to retain a slender figure. She recited the many advantages of the slender over the stout, person, and the burden entailed by excess weight on the muscles of the heart. She deplored the fact, however, that a great many girls, in their battle against corpulence, go without breakfast. Susceptibility to disease is much greater, she said, when one omits the morning meal. Health authorities say it is foolish to train oneself to go without eating in the morning. She developed this point most convincingly with numerous illustrations, approving for the breakfast menu fruit, cereal, soft-boiled egg and coffee, that is not too strong.

Miss O'Connor paid her respects to the popular noonday repast of a chocolate éclair and an ice cream soda, suggesting as a worthy substitute luncheon that included a nourishing sandwich and a glass of milk. In her opinion, young people should drink a quart of milk and two quarts of water every day. "Disease is the worst form of abuse," said Miss O'Connor in recommending regular daily exercise, preferably out-of-doors. She stressed the necessity of physical exercise if the food we eat is to be properly digested and assimilated, becoming a part of the body.

To put yourself 100 per cent into your work, she declared, you must have a sufficient amount of rest—at least eight hours' sleep in every twenty-four—explaining the injurious effect of excessive fatigue on the nervous system.

Throughout the one hour period devoted to the talk, the students of the Moran School listened intently to the many helpful health hints—advice that will long be remembered.

Saving Friendship. There is magic in the memory of schoolyard friendships; it softens the heart and even affects the nervous system of those who have no hours—Benjamin Franklin.

"These two are the supreme ones with me," said Elmer Giga. See John Gilbert and Green Garbo in their greatest film.

New Blizzard Sweeps Europe

London, Feb. 16 (AP).—A new blizzard, bringing ice and snow, today was sweeping down upon central Europe from the Siberian steppes and the east.

Shortage of coal, gas, electricity and water developed as the intense cold from which the continent has suffered continued with little lessening. Hope arising from slight rises in temperatures in Germany was counteracted with forecasts of the new cold weather.

For England warmer weather was predicted, but present conditions caused extreme discomfort and suffering. Freezing of water mains has made it necessary for thousands of Britons to obtain their drinking water from temporary standpipes in the streets.

Freezing of a gas main and the danger of artificial heating left downtown Berlin without gas for fuel and lighting yesterday. Ice disabled the power station at Breslau, where it was 20 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, and that city was without electricity.

All schools at Berlin have been closed, and water and food shortages have developed. These have given rise to considerable price-raising and speculation which authorities are combating.

Zagreb, Yugoslavia, reported 30 villages near there buried under an enormous snowfall. Transportation facilities were disrupted and authorities were unable to send food which was seriously needed.

At one village five Gypsies were found dead after they had, it was said, knocked in vain at peasants' homes, asking for shelter.

There was danger of Antwerp Harbor being bottled up by the ice in Belgium. Intense cold persisted in France where there was considerable ice on the river Seine; while London reported cancellation of sailings of passenger boats from Grimsby to the continent because of ice hazards at ports of destination.

London had its first snowfall last night. Seven deaths were reported over England yesterday from the cold.

Dispatches from Athens said the severe weather in Thrace and Macedonia had given place to torrents of rain. The rivers Euboea, Maritima, and Vardar overflowed their banks and flooded the towns of Kavala and Seres and many villages. Railroad services were interrupted and water was said to be rushing river-like along roads and streets in the flooded area. Damage was great.

CAS SUGGES—Backs Ahead.

I CAN'T STAY DRESSED. JUST DROPPED IN TO ASK YOU OUT TO DINNER SATURDAY. YOU HAVE A LADY FRIEND, DON'T YOU SAY?

YES AND SHE WILL BE DELIGHTED TO COME. THANKS A LOT, HEN. I KNOW YOU WILL LIKE HER.

I HAVE A DATE WITH HER FOR DINNER. THAT NIGHT I'M GOING TO AN IN. WELL GO TO HER. I'LL MEET IT AS A SURPRISE. AM, BUT SHE'LL KNOCK ME DEAD. VIOLA IS A DREAM IN AN EVENING GOWN.

FINISH UP YOUR COFFEE, SAM!

KEEP SATURDAY NIGHT OPEN, ALEC. SHE'S FREE AT THE HOUSE. THAT GOES FOR YOU, TOO.

GREAT! COUNT US IN—FREE FEELS ARE THE BEST. WE'LL BE THERE TO BE WASHED UP THESE DAYS.

I SAID I WAS THROUGH WITH VIOLA WHEN A MAN VOICE ANSWERED HER FROM THE OTHER END...

STILL IT MUST'VE BEEN JUST A CREAM WORKING—I'LL TAKE HER. IT'LL GIVE ME A CHANCE TO PUMP HER AND FIND OUT WHO IT WAS.

Saw a sign in the restaurant which said, "We don't know where ma is, but we have pop on ice." Not so bad, eh?

An old settler was telling the other day that his wife was 60 years old when Amos Tash said: "Why don't you try to exchange her for three twenties?"

Furrier: "What you say may be true, sir, but furs have gone up in price."

Customer: "I suppose because it costs the animals so much more to live, eh?"

Waitress: "Here's your shortcake, sir."

Sarcastic Diner: "You call that shortcake? Take it out and berry it!"

We do progress. Even the skirt is being given the benefit of higher education.

It is said that whiskers are coming back in style. Then we'll know the difference between a man and a mannish haircut.

We live to learn but die before we learn how to live.

"Now suppose," said the teacher, "a man working on the river bank suddenly fell in. He could not swim and would be in danger of drowning. Picture the scene. The man's sudden fall, the cry for help. His wife knows his peril and, hearing his screams, rushes immediately to the bank. Why does she rush to the bank?"

Whereupon a boy exclaimed: "To draw his insurance money."

Brain rushes in where brains fear to tread. It is as useless to worry as to advise others not to.

Eloper: "Five dollars a marriage! We haven't that much, Judge."

Modern Justice of the Peace: "Well, I can give you a companionate marriage for two dollars."

Nothing can be funnier than a girl dressed that way assuming a "how-dare-you-stare-at-me?" look.

Tom Tom the piper's son Hit a pig and away he run He didn't pause He didn't stop He didn't see the motor cop He didn't know he left a trail So now he's doing time in jail.

Portentous item from a Colorado newspaper: William Winter was wedded to Alberta Snow last week.

Indignant Patron: "Here's a piece of rubber tire in my hash."

Waiter: "There's no doubt about it, sir—the motor is displacing the horse everywhere."

Why grope and mope when you can know and grow?

"Is your husband trying anything to cure his deafness?"

"No; he has postponed it until the children have finished their piano lessons."

As a rule the world doffs its hat to the man who makes a mistake and admits it without resorting to an alibi.

Genius is only great patience.

Taking a day off is easy—it's putting it back that's hard.

Friends can be bought but only with the coin of friendship.

Support home industries and home industries will support your city and send it ahead.

At a party the other night a man saw a lady wearing one of those new gowns cut low in the back. He said: "A woman shows a good deal of backbone to wear a dress like that."

Events Around The Empire State

(By the Associated Press.)

Penn Yan (P).—A box of "eight day matches," as the slow-burning matches of early days were derisively termed, was found by Arthur Barnes a few days ago when he took an inventory of the stock in his general store. The matches are of a type not used within a score of years and best remembered for the acrid fumes which were the only sign that the match was burning.

Utica (P).—A stage romance culminated a few days ago in the marriage of Anna Lucille Prince of Nashville, Tenn., and Sidney Insky of Brooklyn by Justice of the Peace Dan Burke. The two are members of a burlesque company and the wedding took place after a matinee. The bride and groom then returned to the theatre to do the last two shows of the "three-day."

Glens Falls (P).—Abe and Willie, the old hand-pumped fire engine which once won the state prize at the Plattsburg fire muster by throwing water a distance of 286 feet has been dismantled. Local firemen are saving the brass fittings as relics.

FRENCH SAVE RELICS OF BIBLICAL TIMES

Damascus (P).—On the initiative of the French government a technical commission will come here to save the world renowned ruins of Baalbek and Thadmor from threatened collapse.

Some of the famous pillars already have fallen, and the remainder may be swept down by the next violent storm.

Baalbek is one of the most grandiose relics of ancient times, and it legend may be traced the oldest of the holiest sites situated in a region abounding in Biblical associations. There stand the huge pillars of the Temple of the Sun on their Phoenician base arranged in rows like those of the Egyptian Thebes.

There is the marvelous "Thronon," the huge marble wall, 60 meters long, consisting of three enormous blocks closely joined together. It is estimated that the combined efforts of 2,000 slaves were needed to move each of these blocks into place from the quarry nearby.

According to local tradition, the stupendous buildings in Baalbek were erected by Cain, Adam and the Patriarchs are supposed to have dwelt there.

SACRED BULL OF EGYPT IS FOUND BY DIGGERS

Cairo (P).—The Egyptian Exploration Society has unearthed the altar to the sacred bull Buchis.

Excavators are continuing their work at Armant, on the left bank of the Nile, where worship of Buchis centered in the days of the Ptolemies. Their latest discoveries include five whole pillars and a broken one belonging to the temple.

Criticism

A person who cannot stand criticism, who is always on the self-defensive, is almost invariably the person who is intensely personal and who relates everything to himself, states a student of life in the Woman's Home Companion.

Dogs Called Unclean by Biblical Writers

Many people have a decided prejudice against soiling dogs. Some go so far as to regard the sale of a dog as positively sinful. One elderly woman, says the Parade Magazine, severely condemned a man who engaged in the business of raising sheep-dogs for the market. She branded his business as sinful and protested against her church accepting contributions of his "tainted" money.

The origin of this prejudice is not known for certain. It may be based on the old Hebrew Scriptural teaching. Deuteronomy 23:18 says in part: "Thou shalt not bring . . . the price of a dog into the house of the Lord thy God for any vow." Many commentators, accepting "dog" here in the literal sense, state that Moses declared dogs unclean and prohibited traffic in them.

Others take a different view of the passage. They say that "dog" here does not refer to the animal, but to a person who has prostituted himself by committing any abominable action. This opinion receives some confirmation from the context, especially the preceding verse. In Palestine the dog was looked upon with loathing and aversion, as filthy and unclean. This animal is mentioned in the Bible more than forty times and, with few exceptions, it is mentioned with contempt, to remark either its voracious insatiable, its ferocity or its leanness.

Medici Family Crest Now Pawnbroker Sign

In America there are but few shop signs reminiscent of an old day. The one most in use is that of the pawnbroker and his sign of three globes. With this is connected a varying and interesting background.

Averardo de Medici was a commander of fighting men under the great Charlemagne. During the course of his battles on behalf of his overlord he met and slew the giant Mugello. As the spoil of war, he took the giant's club, to which for effective service in action were affixed three iron balls swinging upon a short chain.

It can readily be understood that a well-placed blow from such a club in the hands of an angry giant would certainly, to use slang, "make the birdies sing," and the three effective additions to the club would complete the picture. Therefore, Averardo might well have added the three globes to the family crest. In later years the Medici took to the globe but effective art of poisoning and as a side line engaged in the business of loaning money, using the memory of Mugello's battle-axe fixtures as their insignia.

PREMIER GIVES ATHENS NEW BEAUTY TREATMENT

Athens, Feb. 16 (P).—Ancient Athens is to come under the hand of the town planner and the landscape gardener. Prime Minister Venizelos proposed to give the straggling one-story center of classic culture new parks, streets, sidewalks and sewers.

With its increase in population in recent years, Athens sprawls over more ground than Paris, extending into the country in conglomeration of unplanned streets. There are only two parks, the national garden and the Zappelan.

AROUND THE WORLD

Sydney, Australia (P).—The government of New South Wales has adopted the Junior Farmer's Club movement to check the drift from farm to city. The movement aims to keep farmers' sons and daughters on the farms.

Athens (P).—A new Athens newspaper has launched a heated attack against the invasion of foreign capital. "Greece," says this paper, "is the slave of big contractors" from abroad.

Havana, Cuba (P).—Cuba considers replacing the strangling machine by an electric chair for the execution of criminals. Condemned persons might also be given injections of cocaine as a humane measure.

Bremen, Germany (P).—The German Shipbuilding and Engineering Company received an order from France on reparations account for 16 powerful seagoing tugs of 600 horsepower. In addition there was ordered one of 2,000 horsepower.

Segedina, Hungary (P).—Hungary and Spain are waging a paprika war. Paprika is the national vegetable of Hungary. Spain and Hungary are the greatest producers of paprika in the world.

Sao Paulo, Brazil (P).—Sao Paulo's fame as the richest state in Brazil has drawn 26,266 immigrants in the past year. They arrive in a steady stream by boat from abroad and by rail from other Brazilian states.

SPAIN CASTS HER NET FOR TOURIST BUSINESS

Paris, Feb. 16 (P).—Spain's plan to establish a big government tourist agency in Paris is stirring the French to action.

Spain, with $5,000,000 to spend attracting tourists, intends to buy or rent a downtown building here and try to create a flow of travel to see her sights.

France, often eloquent about the need for meeting the competition of other countries, finally considers the time has come to coordinate her travel agencies. There are a dozen or more separate organizations, some of them aided by the government, that attempt to encourage touring.

AIRPLANES ARE TESTED FOR LIFE SAVING WORK

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 16 (P).—A new idea in life-saving has been successful at Torrigal Beach here.

An aeroplane took up a 500 yard life-line at one end of which was an inflated motor tire and at the other end an iron weight. The plane dropped the tire near a swimmer and then dropped the dumbbell on the beach where rescuers were waiting to haul in the swimmer clinging to the inflated tire.

DUPLEX CONVENIENCE OUTLETS

(Copyright R. E. D. 1924)

Breakfast cooked at the table—eggs and toast, and coffee, too, at the same time—saves many steps to the kitchen and allows you to enjoy your meal leisurely. When your home is wired so that there are adequate electrical outlets to care for more than one appliance at a time, life is more convenient. Duplex outlets throughout your house give the greatest comfort, for they eliminate the need of cords dangling from light fixtures. Labor saving electrical devices function readily in every room.

The Red Seal way is the easy way for efficient home management. It means a properly wired home, so equipped that you may "plug in" for electrical comfort wherever you wish to use your appliances—parlor, bedroom or bath. It saves chair-climbing to attach equipment, prevents blown fuses and eliminates unsightly cords. Convenience is its password. Consult your local electric league member about this plan—it's for old homes as well as new ones.

WHY SUFFER WITH BACKACHES?

The back is made up of numerous muscles. There are other anatomical features, of course, but when backache is present, it is the muscles and nerves that are affected. Each muscle is controlled by nerves, and all nerves lead to the spine.

The pain is in the muscles of the back and the spinal nerves are inflamed and sore to the touch. In fact, everything indicates that the Lumbago is due to irritated spinal nerves, rendered worse by the retention of kidney wastes.

To overcome Lumbago, then, it is necessary to correct this nerve irritation. This is what Chiropractic does—and it not only relieves the pain, but also removes the conditions causing the Lumbago.

To anyone who knows the misery that Lumbago causes, the following should be of interest:

J. L. MacKINNON.

WELL AFTER 18 YEARS.

"I am glad to tell of the great benefit I received from Chiropractic. I had been troubled with neuritis in my shoulders, arms and back for 18 years, also had lumbago off and on. Two years ago I took Chiropractic treatments and have been free of my old troubles ever since."
—Frank Cox, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 2298-A.

PHONE 778 FOR APPOINTMENT.

Our success is due to our policy of never accepting cases that we cannot benefit.

In addition to the training received at the world's most prominent Chiropractic institution, supplemented by fourteen years' actual practice and observation, we have originated and are using our own system of pulsed treatment which is a distinct advance over methods commonly in use.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Feb. 16.—(State Dept. of Agriculture and Markets).—Summer fruits from Argentina and Chile were in more liberal receipt this week. Notwithstanding the attractiveness and fine quality of offerings, the outlet was rather restrictive. Honeydew melons wholesaled at $2.75-$4 per crate, peaches at $4-$4.50 per box, plums $1.50-4, and nectarines at $4.50-$6 per box. Demand for fancy barreled and basket apples was moderate. Few price changes were noted. Arrivals were limited.

"Cold storage holdings of apples on February for the entire country amounted to 12,347,000 boxes, 1,581,000 barrels and 3,186,000 bushels. On the corresponding 1928 date, holdings totaled 9,809,000 boxes, 1,266,000 barrels and 2,315,000 bushels. Combined shipments of 21 leading fruits and vegetables for the country increased last week to 15,790 cars, most of the gain over the preceding week being in apples, potatoes and new crop cabbage.

In a last quarter rally the Kingston High School Seconds dumped the Tannersville High School Varsity, 40-28, at the mountaineers' court Friday night. In this portion of the game Kingston tightened on its defense and shot with marked accuracy, which overcame the Tannersville boys, who gave them a slip and tuck battle during the first three quarters.

IRISH REPUBLICANS ARE NOVELTY AND DILIGENT

Dublin, Feb. 16 (AP).—Miss Mary Mac Swiney and a small group of former members of the Dail Eireann, abandoned by events, are still working away for the establishment of "The Republic of Ireland."

Their republic would have a president elected by the people, a national legislative council, and a national economic council.

To Celebrate Founder's Day. The Kingston High School Parent-Teacher Association will join with the organizations from the other city schools in celebrating Founder's Day, Wednesday, February 18. Exercises will be held in the auditorium and gymnasium of the high school, including dancing. Zucca's orchestra will furnish music.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 16 (AP).—The continued efforts of Federal Reserve authorities to effect a reduction in brokers' borrowings inspired further liquidation in today's stock market. Radio sold stocks broke 16 points, and scores of other issues fell 2 to 5 points below yesterday's final quotations. Trading was in unusually heavy volume for a half holiday session, the day's sales approximating more than 2,500,000 shares.

The retention of the five per cent. reduction rate by the New York Federal Bank on Thursday was more than offset by the heavy rally in the market. The day's trading was characterized by the marked tightening of other monetary rates, indicating that bankers were cooperating in making the Federal Reserve policy effective. Judged by the demand for stocks in the "loan crowd" yesterday much of the recent selling has been for short accounts. Bear trading was reported to be particularly heavy from traders wintering at Palm Beach and other southern resorts.

There was nothing in the overnight trade news to influence the price movement. Most of the week-end mercantile and business reviews reported prosperous conditions in most of the basic industries and in wholesale and retail trade. Some fears were expressed, however, that the decline in stocks, if carried too far, would have a bad psychological effect on business.

Selling pressure was particularly effective against the so-called pool specialties. Wright Aeronautical, Allied Chemical, National Cash Register, International Telephone, Electric Auto Lite, Otis Elevator, Motor Products, American Power and Light and Union Carbide all sold five to eight points below last night's final quotations. The closing was heavy.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York City, branch office, Stuyvesant Hotel.

Identify Members Of Purple Gang

Chicago, Feb. 16 (AP).—Three members of the Purple Gang of Detroit today were thrice identified through photographs as members of the gun gang sought for Thursday's slaying of seven.

They were the spies, police said, the "spotters," the advance men for murder. They were planted in advance to observe the men marked for death, to note their hours of gathering, so that the actual killers would know exactly when and how to strike.

Two women and a man living across from the garage where the gang massacre took place made the identification. From a score of photographs they picked three which they said were of men who had rented rooms overlooking the garage—rooms which they occupied during a period of days immediately preceding the assassinations.

Harry and Phil Keywell, brothers, and Eddie Fletcher were the three whose pictures were identified. After the identifications police announced that the trail of Chicago's bloodiest gang murder was growing hot and that important arrests were near. But even the prospect of early and definite police action was overshadowed by several sensational aftermaths of the crime.

J. D. Schoonmaker Catches Sailfish

President of Kingston Dry Dock and Construction Company Having Enjoyable Time in Florida Fishing in Floridian Waters.
That John D. Schoonmaker, president of the Kingston Dry Dock and Construction Company, Inc., is enjoying himself in Florida is shown by an item in the issue of February 11 of the Stuart Daily News, printed at Stuart, Martin county, Florida, which reads as follows:
"Some of the most exciting sport seen in these waters in many days is being reported by fishermen this week. One of the gamest of deep sea specimens, the sailfish, abounds around the St. Lucie inlet at this time, and the sportsmen are making the best of their opportunities.
"During his recent trip to New York took a party of three other men from Sunrise Inn out for a trip on the deep the other day, and in the course of the day they hooked a dozen or more sailfish. Five of them were brought in, but the sportsmen were having too good a time to want to keep them, so threw all of their catch back except one. This was more than six feet long. The other men in the party were Louis P. Church and Dr. S. V. Whitbeck of Hudson, N. Y., and John D. Schoonmaker of Kingston, N. Y."

ALONG THE THAMES

The Thames at Pangbourne.

FOLLOWING the River Thames from its birthplace 75 miles west of London to that great metropolis, lends the traveler through a countryside full of history and tradition, and still retaining, in spite of its nearness to the throbbing port and streets of London, the atmosphere of by-gone centuries.

At Cricklade the river is little more than a rivulet—in fact, the local people all refer to it as "the Brook." The first 11 miles to Lechlade is not really navigable water, and for most of the distance one must walk in the bed of the stream, guiding his canoe over the shallows, which occur every few yards. Where there is sufficient depth of water progress is impeded by the heavy weeds.

At Lechlade the river becomes navigable, though from here to Oxford traffic is scanty, and it is rare to see anything larger than a rowboat. The river winds its narrow, tortuous course between long, level meadows or rushy banks. Black and dun cattle wading in the shallows; an old bridge or a comfortable riverside inn haunted by anglers, for the river here is full of fish; heron winging his slow way home—these are the most exciting scenes in a day's paddle. But though this country is not on the grand scale, it is a quiet beauty all its own, which is remembered when more spectacular places are forgotten.

Lechlade is a Cotswold town, built round the wide and sunny market-place, from one side of which rises the sixteenth century church, with its spire so loved by the poet Shelley. The houses are of stone, brick being a rarity in the Cotswolds, and have an air of mingled spaciousness and dignity which is most attractive.

Newbridge and Its Old Inn.
A steady, uneventful paddle of 15 miles brings one to Newbridge, which, like New College at Oxford and the New Forest, is of great antiquity, being in fact the oldest bridge on the river.

On the bank is the old inn bearing the quaint sign of "The Rose Revived." Its signboard was painted by Sir Hans Thormercroft, and represents a rose in a glass of beer, in which liquid it appears to be flourishing greatly. Over the signboard is a small pediment to act as a defense against the weather.

Four miles below is the ferry where Matthew Arnold saw the Scholar-Gipsy "crossing the striding Thames at Bablockthorpe," and about a mile on the right the village of Cumnor, where was enacted the tragedy of Amy Robsart, described by Sir Walter Scott in "Kenilworth."

At this point one comes in sight of Oxford, but as the river describes a great horseshoe curve, it is some time before he approaches the outskirts of the city. The sordid nature of the last two miles, covered with railways, warehouses, and gasometers, is only equaled by the memory of its departed glories.

On the left, where now is a cemetery, stood the great Abbey of Osney, and just below the old keep of Oxford castle rears its hoary head from among the hideous litter and lumber of a gas-works and a railway; yet it was the scene of one of the most romantic adventures of the Middle Ages.

In the year 1142 King Stephen was besieging the castle, in which was his rival, Matilda. A frost set in, followed by a heavy snowstorm, and the case of the garrison was desperate. But Matilda was a true Planchet. With four chosen knights, dressed all in white, she stole out at a little postern gate, and under cover of darkness fled across the frozen river and over the snows to Abingdon, seven long miles away, where help awaited her.

A little farther on the river divides and passes under the old Grand Port, or Folly bridge, the center of Oxford's aquatic life.

Beauty of Oxford.
Oxford is one of those towns, which, like Rome, Prague and a few others, are really the property of the world, rather than of a single nation. It is impossible in so short an article to give more than a cursory glance at its many beauties. It should be remembered that, with Cambridge, it is the only example remaining of a university with a tradition of communal living in colleges, independent of the university organization, which goes back hundreds of years.

The city is a living link with what ever is or has been best in English life through the ages, and forms in itself an epitome of English social and national history.
